Annual Meeting's act --check- ing the crowd for dummies

Finally spring is here and members know what that means...Annual Meeting is sneaking up again. Friday, April 4 is the date to mark for AEC's blowout for the year.

'Time to pick up the capital credit check, sign up for freebies and eat a nice dinner. At 5:00 p.m. the hungry crowd starts to file into the Cherokee High School Cafeteria. Those needing assistance should watch for the workers in the White shirts. Beginning at 5:30 there will be entertainment in the Gymnasium for the early arriving crowd.

Bring along your program to register for the many door prizes.

The wide hallway demonstrates a variety of booths--AEC Services, Inc., electrical safety and Pioneer cell phones. East of the gym, AEC personnel busily distribute capital credit checks.

Joe Waggoner representing District 5 and Joe Hise representing District 7 will each continue to serve another term on the Board of Trustees. No elections will be necessary this year as only the incumbents filed for re-election.

Taylor Mason hears advice from a friend.

This year's entertainment is a people pleaser--a ventriloquist/musician/comedian. Taylor Mason has been so busy with his "show biz" career, he has never had a real job. Filling his days playing with puppets, amusing crowds and singing tunes he has pleased audiences from bar mitzvahs to college campuses.

Companies such as Microsoft and Walmart have laughed at his antics, all in the genre of "family entertainment."

Bring along the grandkids. (Children accompanied by an adult are invited to play on the bouncing gym located on the west lawn.)

The traditional barrel train will also be offering free rides to well-behaved riders.

Nancy Rieger, Brandon Wright, Tim Jenlink, and Douglas Conrady.
